Profile

As a budding software engineer, I am regularly expanding my knowledge base and testing the limits of my programming skills. With my ever-growing expertise in the latest software engineering technologies and methodologies, I'm eager to contribute to the hospitality & tourism industry in meaningful ways such as building creative web and app pages to eliminate end-user frustrations and implement problem-solving strategies. In the past, I've used a multitude of coding languages and frameworks to create projects for landing pages, social media mockups, blogs, custom name generators, random card generators, and to-do lists, and I hope to incorporate everything to make impactful contributions as a part of a larger team.
